INVITATION

We are honored to invite you at the International Scientific Conference entitled: “Contemporary perspectives of educational work” organized jointly by the International University of Novi Pazar and University of Tetova, which will be held on 14th of April, 2018 in Preševo.

AIM AND SCOPE

The conference aim is to present research and anticipate the most acceptable pedagogical - didactical approaches as well as contemporary methods in educational work.

We want to explore the various dimensions and paradigms of educational work in the modern pedagogical theories point of view, and to offer some new solutions in the prism of uniting humanities and the ever - increasing progress of information systems. Within the framework of this general thematic cluster, we welcome scientific journals achieved either with the theoretical framework and / or methodical approach and also encourage research dialogues within and beyond the boundaries of this discipline, both within and beyond geographic and geopolitical boundaries.

The idea of organizing this conference is to unite different perspectives and to spur the debate about the dilemma in which direction modern education and education should be developed, and also if the modern school system and modern schools are sufficiently careful in balancing their representation in educational system in the digital age.

We call on scientists, and above all, field professionals: pedagogical, informatics, law, economics, philosophy, sociology, philology and other sciences to contribute to their original and innovative attitudes, their thoughts and proposals in building a new quality in designing a functional and successful development education system.
